Ferske spor i myra

A photograph of a bog or wetland area. The foreground is dominated by a dense carpet of bright green moss. Several tall, thin blades of grass, likely sedge or reed, grow upwards from the moss. The background shows more of the same vegetation, slightly out of focus. The overall scene is lush and green, suggesting a healthy, moist environment. The text 'Ferske spor i myra' is overlaid in the upper left quadrant in a bold, white font with a black outline.
